Summary Explanation/Background

This item supports the Broward County Board of County Commissioners' Values of "[c]ultivating community culture, arts, recreation, and lifelong learning" and "[e]nsuring economic opportunities for Broward's diverse population and businesses." This item further supports the Board's Goals of: (1) "[p]rovid[ing] diverse artistic, cultural, educational, and historical amenities and programs that contribute to a vibrant, multicultural and economically viable community. . ."; and (2) "[d]iversify[ing] the local economy, attract[ing] industries offering high-wage jobs with benefits while balancing economic, educational, environmental, and community needs."

Over the past 100 years, Florida had invested in the film and television industry, and had been a prime location for film, television, and other entertainment productions. Notwithstanding the economic benefits to the State of Florida and its residents from this industry, in 2016, the Florida Legislature formally ended the statewide film tax incentive program. Organizations such as Film Florida have stated that since the end of the state's film incentive program, the State of Florida has lost in excess of $1.3 billion in tax revenues, as well as thousands of jobs and billions of economic benefits from this industry. Currently, Florida is the only state in the Southeast and only one of 17 in the United States without any film incentive program.

On September 9, 2021, the Office of the County Attorney was directed to draft an ordinance creating a Broward County Office of Film and to amend the Broward County Administrative Code ("Administrative Code") creating a film incentive program. As part of the drafting process, the Office of the County Attorney determined that the Office of Film could be established via amendments to the Administrative Code rather than by separate ordinance.

If adopted, the proposed Administrative Code provisions, which are recommended by County Administration, would establish an Office of Film (reporting to the Office of Economic and Small Business Development), with a Film Commissioner as its director, provide minimum qualifications for the Film Commissioner, and establish a film incentive program. In addition, since there are ongoing discussions with representatives of Miami-Dade County and Palm Beach County that may lead to a more comprehensive incentive program for South Florida, the proposed incentive programs provide for automatic modifications if Interlocal Agreements are entered into between Broward County and one or more of its neighboring counties.
