VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

The Respite program is a much-needed new program to provide the families of children/young adults with special needs a supportive and nurturing Respite experience. Additionally, 13% of the population in Broward has a disability. This includes thousands of children who are at risk for abuse and neglect by their caregivers. The program aims to give parents/caregivers time off and temporarily relieve the stress they experience while providing extra care to a child/young adult with special needs. Many of their families have children with multiple disabilities and other siblings with disabilities. They serve children and adults in single-parent households as well as children cared for by extended family members. Approximately 80% of the families served earn an income below the federal poverty level, experience innumerable other hardships and are simply unable to afford care for their children. The strain can have a wide range of negative effects on healthy family life and living and can also likely impede developmental, emotional, behavioral, and intellectual progress for the child/young adult in need. Respite care aims to combat and diminish those negative impacts.

VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

This funding will enhance an existing service by honoring deserving young ladies from the Broward County community (high school grades 9 through 12) who do not have fathers in their lives. These ladies will attend Father's M.I.A.'s spring gala, "As We Honor Her," with escorts from local police agencies/first responders as a simulated "father daughter dance." Leading up to the gala, the agency provides seven empowerment sessions designed to motivate, encourage, and develop a personal sense of self-worth and self-acceptance from the children that have been affected by homes without parental influence. Scholarships to high school seniors are provided at the end of the gala for higher education, based on student GPA, extracurricular activities, and essay on fatherlessness.

LETF funding will support Feeding South Florida's (FSF) Mobile Food Pantry Program (MFP). FSF's MFP model drives food to a site, offloads with the support of volunteers, and then arranges the food in a way that mirrors a farmer's market to give clients maximum choice. FSF's truck will arrive at a partner site loaded with approximately 11,550 pounds of food for approximately 350 households. Distribution locations rotate on a regular basis throughout Palm Beach, Broward, and Miami-Dade counties, but LETF funds will focus specifically on community members in Deerfield Beach in Broward County.

VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

Girl Scouts of Southeast Florida (GSSEF) has observed that many parents/guardians lack the financial means to cover the modest costs associated with Girl Scouting. With funding from Broward Sheriff's Office, GSSEF will help 75 girls in grades K-12 attending Oriole Elementary School, Lauderdale Lakes Middle School, and Boyd Anderson High School to be placed among their peers in troops at their local schools, ensuring unimpeded access to the gender-based, leadership development programming that is unique to Girl Scouting. Girls will fully participate in "today's" Girl Scouting, which, regardless of subject matter, comprises three core components: girls discover their values, interests and skills and find the confidence to set goals for themselves; connect with others while learning how to resolve conflict and build healthy relationships; and take action as a team to make the world a better place. Under the guidance of fully screened and trained, caring adult volunteers, Girl Scout experiences are also, as much as possible, girl-led and encourage learning by doing and cooperative learning. Through this winning formula, girls develop their full potential; relate to others with increased understanding and respect; develop values to guide their actions and provide a foundation for sound decision-making; and contribute to the improvement of society.

VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

The Awesome Kids Program-In School (AKP) addresses deviant behavior, social and emotional issues, and anger management in at-risk youths to deter and reduce deviant behavior, incarceration, and recidivism. The program takes place in one (1) Broward County Schools Baldwin Academy. Student referrals for AKP are sent by school guidance counselors or resource officers, and students are seen at least once a week in individual and group settings. The school administrators they work with agree that in-school mental health services are desperately needed as many students who require these services come from families with inadequate financial resources, limited access to transportation, and inadequate parental involvement outside of a school setting.

Many stories have centered on students who have chosen to express their identities in nonconforming ways and were met with resistance - and even anger - from administrators, teachers or parents. Additionally, as we enter hurricane season, ID holders are able to obtain shelter for their families during a storm or any other emergency. The Broward Community ID provides photo identification for Broward residents that, in some cases and for many years, have had no access to a government-issued ID which is critical for everyday life and the care of loved ones. Residents who may benefit from the program include new immigrants and refugees, homeless and elderly, the formerly incarcerated, transgender, foster youth, other marginalized groups, and anyone who may have difficulty getting a government-issued ID.

Often arriving at SOS with little-to-no concept of basic life skills, SOS teens are all required to participate in ILSP, which is designed to provide a full range of life skills instruction, social and emotional resiliency training and counseling that best prepares each teen for academic and personal success, and a successful transition to life beyond foster care. Coordinated by the Life Skills Manager, the ILSP runs several weekly sessions to teen residents (13-18) on topics ranging from conflict management and meal planning to financial literacy and resume writing.

VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

LETF funding will be used to continue and enhance the afterschool Scouting/STEM/STEAM programs for elementary school students (boys and girls) and continue and enhance the middle and high school (boys & girls) teen Life Skills Program. The Scouting & Life Skills Program has three specific objectives: character development, citizenship training and personal fitness, and we incorporate these into all our outreach programs. In Cub Scouts, youth have fun and adventure in a program that builds character and instills values. Cub Scouting embraces the values of citizenship, compassion, cooperation, courage, faith, health and fitness, honesty, perseverance, positive attitude, resourcefulness, respect, and responsibility. These values impact youth at all levels of the Scouting program -all while they're having a great time with their friends and families. Our Life Skills programs are designed to develop character, citizenship, and fitness. Through the advancement program and peer group leadership, Scouting helps a youth develop into a well-rounded adult. In the Life Skills programs, the youth take responsibility for the activities of the program. By planning and organizing activities, they develop teamwork and learn to lead as well as follow. Both programs are administered twice a week during the school year and the middle and high school program continues through the summer.

VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

The South Florida Wellness Network's LETF Peer Support Re-entry Program will address crime prevention by helping adult inmates in two Broward County jails who face mental illness and/or substance addiction to learn recovery skills and resiliency strategies to prepare for community re-entry and reduce the chance of post-release recidivism. A trained Peer Specialist will facilitate weekly recovery education for peer support and pre-release planning, serving 500 duplicated group attendees and 55 inmates with one-on-one peer support. One hundred (100) individuals will receive post-release services, such as recovery support, linkage to community-based resources, follow-up, and Pen Pal correspondence. Expected outcomes include: 65% of inmates receiving re-entry services while in jail will be more prepared to deal with their mental health/substance use upon release as measured by Wellness Recovery Action Planning (WRAP) initiation; 50% of persons receiving individualized services will access eligible benefits and needed community-based services by 30 days post-release; and 70% who receive individualized post-release services will not return to jail within 90 days. LETF funding will allow continuation and enhancement of this existing service, improve access to mental health/substance use services, ease re-entry transition, and enhance peer support as a key element in BSO's detention approach.

VI. SUMMARY DESCRIPTION:

The Poitier Wordsmith Academy (PWA) offers keys to great writing by teaching at-risk youth how to create short stories, poems, a novel, or book, and what it takes to get published. Drawing advice from published authors, students will be able to start a writing career of their own (and possibly increase their financial stability) by participating in a program that is designed to help reduce delinquency and risky behaviors among youths, connect them with an afterschool safe haven, provide academic support, aid in leadership development and self-sufficiency, teach healthier lifestyles, and ultimately, create safer neighborhoods. PWA's innovative writing, publishing, story-telling and entrepreneurial program will become a lifeline for at-risk youth to escape some of the violence and social pressures they face daily while encouraging students to translate their thoughts into written words and discover their voices as weapons of expressive freedom. As proficiency on the Florida State Assessment in English/Language Arts (ELA) is a present high school requirement for graduation, this project will enhance the students' language and writing abilities and increase graduation rates while fostering a passion for the art of written communication. In twenty workshop sessions, a new group of students will learn the fundamentals of grammar and mechanics, how to enhance their writing through description and sensory details, the principals of creative writing, the types of short nonfiction, including research articles, personal essays, books, and memoirs, and the various forms of fiction, including short stories, novellas, novels, and the importance of editing and rewriting.

They hire certified teachers to provide reading comprehension, math, science, and STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, Math) education to 400 elementary students for 2 hours, four days per week. Upon enrollment, each student receives a comprehensive assessment and evaluation of literacy skills using the Nationally recognized San Diego and DIBELS test (both a pre-test and a post-test to track outcomes) to formulate a Multifaceted Activity Plan (MAP) in accordance with their reading level and particular learning challenges, to be completed at the student's pace. Alongside educational programming, they also provide mentoring and family engagement activities, when applicable, that encourage excitement about learning and promotes long-term success in schools and in life.
