Summary Explanation/Background

Article II of Chapter 16 of the Broward County Code of Ordinances ("Code") imposes a lien in favor of a hospital for all reasonable charges incurred by the hospital upon any claim, judgment, and settlement relating to the illness or injuries that gave rise to the claim at issue.

Despite the sovereign immunity doctrine that precludes the assertion of such claims against local governments, these Code provisions have occasionally been cited by hospitals in an attempt to assert a claim against Broward County for impairment of a lien based upon the County's settlement of a personal injury action. To avoid confusion and unnecessary litigation, the proposed Ordinance, if enacted, would clarify that the Code provisions are not a waiver of, and have no effect upon, the sovereign immunity of local governments.
