INDEPENDENT ACCOUNTANT'S REVIEW REPORT

To Management
Hyde Shipping Corporation
Hialeah, Florida

We have reviewed the accompanying financial statements of Hyde Shipping Corporation (a corporation), which comprise the balance sheets as of December 31, 2023 and 2022, and the related statements of income and retained earnings and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements. A review includes primarily applying analytical procedures to management's financial data and making inquiries of company management. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement whether due to fraud or error.

Accountant's Responsibility

Our responsibility is to conduct the review engagements in accordance with Statements on Standards for Accounting and Review Services promulgated by the Accounting and Review Services Committee of the AICPA. Those standards require us to perform procedures to obtain limited assurance as a basis for reporting whether we are aware of any material modifications that should be made to the financial statements for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. We believe that the results of our procedures provide a reasonable basis for our conclusion.

We are required to be independent of Hyde Shipping Corporation and to meet our other ethical responsibilities, in accordance with the relevant ethical requirements related to our reviews.

Accountant's Conclusion

Based on our reviews, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying financial statements in order for them to be in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Supplementary Information

The supplementary information included in the accompanying schedule of revenues, schedule of direct operating expenses, and schedule of selling, administrative and general expenses is presented for purposes of additional analysis and is not a required part of the basic financial statements. Such information is the responsibility of management and was derived from, and relates directly to, the underlying accounting and other records used to prepare the financial statements. The supplementary information has been subjected to the review procedures applied in our review of the basic financial statements. We are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the supplementary information. We have not audited the supplementary information and do not express an opinion on such information.

Notes to Financial Statements

NOTE 1 – SUMMARY OF OPERATIONS AND SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Date of Management's Review:

Management has evaluated subsequent events through November 12, 2024, the date the financial statements were available to be issued.

Operations:

Hyde Shipping Corporation was incorporated on February 12, 1976. The Company acts as a representative of a related foreign shipping line and four related foreign flagged owner operated vessels. It provides stevedoring and documentation services that consist of processing the incoming and outgoing cargo of the shipping line it represents in the South Florida area. The Company is also in the business of trucking and of handling and consolidating cargo for the shipping line it represents and for third parties. The service of handling and consolidation of cargo was previously performed by MAK Freight, Inc., Hyde Shipping's affiliate.

Cash Equivalents:

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

The actual cash outlay for certain expenses as required by Professional Standards is as follows:

		2023		2022
Interest	$	16,100	$	8,317
Income Taxes	$	-	$	40,500

Trade Accounts Receivable:

Trade accounts receivable are reported at the amount management expects to collect from outstanding balances. Differences between the amount due and the amount management expects to collect are reported in the results of operations of the year in which those differences are determined, with an offsetting entry to a valuation allowance for trade accounts receivable. Balances still outstanding after management has used reasonable collection efforts are written off through a charge to the valuation allowance and a credit to trade accounts receivable.

Property and Equipment:

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is being provided principally on the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets as follows:

	Years
Leasehold Improvements	7-39
Motor Vehicles	5-7
Furniture & Fixtures	5-10
Machinery & Equipment	5-10
Computer Hardware & Software	3-5

Finance and Operating Leases:

Professional standards for leases requires lessees to record a right-of-use asset and a lease liability for all leases other than those that, at lease commencement, have a lease term of 12 months or less, if elected. The Company has elected an accounting policy not to apply the recognition requirements to short-term leases for all classes of underlying assets.

Notes to Financial Statements

On the lease commencement date, a lessee is required to measure and record a right-of-use asset and lease liability equal to the present value of the remaining lease payments, discounted using the rate implicit in the lease (or if that rate cannot be readily determined, the lessee's incremental borrowing rate).

Under the standard, a lessee should classify a lease based on whether the arrangement is effectively a purchase of the underlying asset. Leases that transfer control of the underlying asset to a lessee are classified as finance leases (and as a sales-type lease for the lessor); lessees will classify all other leases as operating leases. In an operating lease, a lessee obtains control of only the use of the underlying asset, but not the underlying asset itself. Interest and amortization expense (depreciation) are recognized for finance leases while only a single lease expense is recognized for operating leases, typically on a straight-line basis.

The leases standard is required to be applied to leases in existence as of the date of initial application using a modified retrospective transition approach. The Company has elected the date of initial application as the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented. The Company recognizes the short-term lease payments in net income on a straight-line basis over the lease term. Variable lease payments are recorded in the period in which the obligation for the payment is incurred.

In applying the leases standard, information about significant assumptions and judgments made in applying the requirements of this standard include the following:

1. The determination of whether a contract contains a lease.
2. The allocation of the consideration in a contract between lease and non-lease components.
3. The determination of the discount rate for the lease; the incremental borrowing rate or similar rate.

The Company has elected the following practical expedients, which must be elected as a package and applied consistently by an entity to all of its leases (including those for which the entity is a lessee or a lessor), that commenced before the effective date:

1. The entity need not reassess whether any expired or existing contracts are or contain leases.
2. The entity need not reassess the lease classification for any expired or existing leases.
3. The entity need not reassess initial direct costs for any existing leases.

As of the financial statement date no leases exist that have not yet commenced but that create significant rights and obligations for the lessee.

Advertising:

The Company expenses advertising production costs as they are incurred and advertising communication costs the first time the advertising takes place.

Notes to Financial Statements

Income Taxes:

For financial statement presentation as well as for income tax filing purposes, the Company reports under the accrual basis of accounting. The accrual method of accounting recognizes revenues when earned and expenses when incurred.

For income tax reporting purposes, the Company uses accounting methods that recognize depreciation different than for financial statement reporting. As a result, the basis of property and equipment for financial reporting purposes may differ from its tax basis by the cumulative amount that tax depreciation differs from straight-line depreciation. Deferred income taxes have been recorded for these differences, based on anticipated income tax rates, which will be recoverable or taxable in future periods through the income tax depreciation deduction. The provision for income taxes as well as the deferred income tax asset or liability also take into consideration certain expense item differences not deductible for income tax purposes or recognizable at a later date such as the non-deductible portion of entertainment expense, penalties, non-deductible interest and increases in the allowance for doubtful accounts. A deferred income tax asset may also be recorded for the recovery or reduction of applicable income taxes resulting from the effect of net operating losses that can be carried back or carried forward, as permitted by IRS regulations, and from other allowable deductions.

Use of Estimates:

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Shipping Services):

The Company recognizes revenues from contracts with customers (shipping services) as the performance obligation is satisfied by transferring control of the promised good or service to the customer. Shipping services control transfers when the service is provided and therefore revenue is recognized at such time. Payment terms for the collection of such services include prepaid, collect and 30-days.

Economic conditions in the markets serviced by the Company affect the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows.

Reclassifications:

Certain account balances in the prior year financial statements may have been reclassified to conform to the current year presentation. During 2022 advances to officers for life insurance and unsecured advances from stockholders increased by $316,540 caused by a reclassification of account balances.

Change in Accounting Principles:

The Company adopted the leases standard that requires changes in accounting for financing and operating leases under which the Company is the lessee. The Company has elected the date of initial application as the beginning of the earliest comparative period presented in the financial statements. For private for-profit entities, the new leases standard was effective for annual periods beginning after December 15, 2021.

Notes to Financial Statements

Change in Accounting Principles (continued):

The Company has also implemented the new revenue recognition standard with an effective date for private entities with annual reporting periods beginning after December 15, 2020.

NOTE 2 – CONCENTRATION OF CREDIT RISK

Financial instruments which potentially subject the Company to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash balances and trade accounts receivable. The Company maintains cash balances at banks insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000 each. At December 31, 2023 and 2022 cash balances maintained at a bank amounted to $1,451,213 and $835,753, respectively. Concentration of credit risk with respect to trade accounts receivable is primarily limited to the financial viability of related parties for amounts due from such entities as disclosed in these financial statements, and the number of customers comprising the Company's customer base.

NOTE 3 – INVESTING AND FINANCING ACTIVITIES NOT REQUIRING CASH

During 2023 and 2022 right of use asset and lease liability reflect a net decrease of $903,401 and $874,231, respectively, from lease payments on operating leases.

NOTE 4 – PROPERTY AND EQUIPMENT

Property and Equipment Consist of the Following:

	2023		2022

The lease was for an initial ten-year term commencing on June 1, 2011 with an option for an additional five-year period. The optional five-year period has been effectively exercised and negotiated commencing on July 1, 2021, and runs for a period of five (5) years through June 30, 2026, unless sooner terminated as provided for in the Agreement. NOTE 7 – PURCHASE OF INCREASING BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE POLICY

To provide cash to purchase the stock of a deceased stockholder increasing benefit life insurance policies were purchased by the stockholders in an amount equal to the purchase price valuation established under the agreement. Hyde Shipping Corporation provides the funding for the purchase of the policies. The premiums are currently at $3,833 monthly and are to be repaid to the Company from policy proceeds. The amount owed the corporation by its stockholders under this agreement is reflected on the face of the balance sheet.

The death benefit under the increasing benefit life insurance policy at the time of death amounted to $750,397. The proceeds were collected in year 2024 and were utilized to pay off the premiums paid by Hyde Shipping Corporation on behalf of said corporate stockholder with the remaining balance paid to the deceased shareholder's heir. The amount owed to Hyde Shipping Corporation by the corporate stockholder amounted to $488,576.

Professional Standards prescribe a recognition threshold and measurement attribute for the financial statement recognition and measurement of a tax position taken or expected to be taken in a tax return. Professional Standards also provide guidance on de-recognition, classification, interest and penalties.

For years ended December 31, 2023 and 2022, management is not aware of any uncertain tax positions taken by the Company that may result in a tax liability; consequently, no provision has been made on these financial statements for income taxes due, interest or penalties.

The Company files income tax returns in the U.S. federal jurisdiction and the state of Florida. Federal and state jurisdictions have statutes of limitations ranging between three (3) and (7) years. U.S. federal income tax returns prior to 2022 are currently closed. No income tax returns are currently under examination.

NOTE 15 – RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

Circumstances beyond the Company's control including pandemics, natural disasters and political instability may result in a material adverse impact on the Company's financial position, results of operations and cash flows. Possible effects may include, but are not limited to, the disruption of customers and revenues, absenteeism in the labor workforce, unavailability of products and supplies used in operations, and a decline in the value of assets. These events may disrupt, but are not limited to, trade lanes, distribution centers, and regional locations. Industry vulnerabilities and concentrations are most susceptible to such events.

The duration of any business disruption and related financial impact cannot be reasonably estimated but may materially affect business operations and result in additional costs. The Company is obligated under certain operating leases not recorded as a lease liability as they are not considered significant to these financial statements.

1. General Information

1.1 Definitions

1.1.1 Hyde Safety Program

The Hyde Safety Program (HSP) is the driving force for safety improvements in employee injury and auto accident elimination. Making wellness and safety a personal value, leading, collaborating and teaching add depth to HSP, which will take our organization to the next level toward eliminating injuries and accidents.

1.1.2 Hyde Safety Committee

The Hyde Safety committee is a group of Management and Non-Management motivated employees that are designed to accomplish Hyde Safety Program expectation. Every year, new members should be encourage to participate in order for everybody to have the opportunity to learn the different aspects of the program.

1.2 The Process

The Hyde Safety Program process is represented in a three building block pyramid which also symbolizes the strength, durability, and sustainability of the program. These blocks are; Personal Value, Management commitment and Employee involvement, as the base of the pyramid; Hazard Prevention and Control, in the middle of the pyramid, and Safety Education and Training in the top.

1.2.1 Personal Value, Management Commitment and Employee involvement;

Personal Value is the foundation of the entire process. Once something becomes a personal value and takes hold, it becomes part of your culture and then it is permanent; in order for Hyde Shipping to be a world class safety organization, safety has to be a personal value to the entire workforce.

Management Commitment and Employee Involvement are complementary. In an effective process, management regards worker health and safety as a fundamental value of the organization and applies its commitment to health and safety protection with as much vigor as to other organizational purposes. As part of this commitment and as a reinforcement of our core value, every manager of our organization needs to sign a declaration of Management Commitment (refer to exhibit A) which will be included in the safety program binder.

1.2.2 Hazard Analysis, Prevention and Control;

The core function of any successful Health and Safety Process is to “find and fix” hazards that threaten employees and to implement systems that prevent such hazards from recurring. Examples of Forms used by Hyde safety committees that control or prevent hazard in the workplace are:

- Concerns Log (refer to exhibit B)
- 12-Month plan of action (refer to exhibit C)

Also, Once a hazard or potential hazard is recognized it must be corrected by;

- Establishing procedures to ensure prevention and control
- Using engineering techniques where feasible and appropriate
- Establishing procedures for safe work, understood and followed by all affected parties, through:
 - training
 - positive reinforcement
 - correction of unsafe performance
 - enforced through a clearly communicated disciplinary system
- Using personal protective equipment
- Establishing administrative controls
- Performing facility and equipment maintenance
- Planning and preparing for emergencies

1.2.3 Safety Education and Training;

Educating the workforce in an ongoing manner will enable the workforce to remain aware of their surroundings and learn safer ways to operate on a daily basis; by doing this, we;

- Ensure that employees understand their responsibilities
- Ensure that supervisors understand their responsibilities
 - Analyzing the work under their supervision to identify unrecognized potential hazards
 - Maintaining physical protections in their work areas; and reinforcing employee training through continued performance feedback and, if necessary, through enforcement
- Ensure that managers understand their responsibilities

1.3 Communication and Responsibilities

Hyde Safety committee meets quarterly with an agenda (refer to exhibit D) only relating to safety. The agenda items will include but not limited to; minutes from last meeting, review concern log, review of injuries (if any), unfinished business and new business.

1.3.1 Safety Binder;

HSP thru his committee needs to maintain a Safety binder with the safety program information; this binder should be accessible to any employee and it needs to be up to date all the time; this binder should contain the following information;

The employee is responsible to declare the use of doctor prescribed or over the counter drug use when tested. The testing should be in accordance with regulations, certification and testing standards in accordance with legal requirements.

2.2 Hazard Analysis

2.2.1 Worksite Analysis

Worksite analysis is the component of the safety committee that helps point you in the direction you need to go. Worksite analysis helps us to analyze our injury data and formulate a plan of action. Worksite analysis takes information from the facility and other sources to determine where our most common and severe injuries are occurring.

2.2.2 Injury and OSHA Recordable Rate

The OSHA recordable codes are what OSHA uses to record injuries or illnesses. This is part of the OSHA standard for Record keeping which was developed to collect data from employers on the type of injuries and illnesses that are occurring in the workplace. This allows OSHA to focus their attention on the high risk areas, by giving employers a consistent format to record their information.

What is an OSHA Recordable Injury?

“Accidents and injuries that result in death and/or disabilities that cause the employee to miss work (including restricted duty), and medical care injuries that require more than first aid”

Anything beyond the following is generally considered OSHA Recordable:

- Application of antiseptics during first visit to medical personnel
- Treatment of first degree burn(s)
- Application of bandages during any visit to medical personnel
- Using of elastic bandages during first visit to medical personnel
- Removal of foreign bodies not embedded in eye if only irrigation is required
- Removal of foreign bodies from wound; if procedure is uncomplicated, and is for example by tweezers or other simple techniques
- Use of nonprescription medications and administration of single dose prescription medication on first visit for minor injury or discomfort

Hyde Shipping Corporation – Hyde Safety Program
Safety Manual

Revised: Original
Replaced: Original

- Soaking therapy on initial visit to medical personnel or removal of bandage by soaking
- Application of hot or cold compress(es) during first visit to medical personnel
- Application of ointments to abrasions to prevent drying or cracking
- Application of heat therapy during first visit to medical personnel
- Negative X-ray diagnosis
- Observation of injury during visit to medical personnel

What is a lost workday Injury?

A lost workday injury or illness is one that results in the employee being unable to perform all or any parts of their normal job.

Six Degrees of Severity

0. Injury does not require medical attention
1. Treatment beyond first aid (TBFA); is traditionally provided by a physician. OSHA has a list of items that are considered first aid. Anything that is above and beyond that list is recordable.
2. Loss of consciousness (LOC); If person losses consciousnesses for any length of time, it is recordable.
3. Temporary alternate work (TAW); if a person is injured and has to change from their normal job to another job because of restrictions from an injury, this job is considered temporary alternate work and the injury is recordable. Even though the person may not lose time away from work, he/she is no longer performing their normal job due to an injury.
4. Lost time injury (LTI); is an injury where a person can no longer work and will leave their job for an extended time period.
5. Fatality; a death resulting from a disaster or accident (Not necessarily auto accident)

How to calculate the OSHA Recordable Injury Frequency?

A frequency is an equalization measurement of a rate of incidents (employee injury or auto accident) per hours of work exposure. It is based on actual work or driving hours. The formulas for employee injuries are calculated with a 200,000 hours exposure factor. OSHA's calculation represents 100 full-time employees who typically work 40 hours per week, 50 weeks per year. All frequencies are calculated on a calendar year basis, which enables comparison of different sized work groups on a common basis.

OSHA Recordable Injury Frequency*

$$\frac{(\# \text{ TBFA} + \text{LOC} + \text{TAW} + \text{LTI}) \times 200,000 \text{ hours}}{\text{Actual employee hours worked}}$$

Auto Accident Frequency*

$$\frac{(\# \text{ Auto accidents}) \times 200,000 \text{ hours}}{\text{Actual employee driving hours worked}}$$

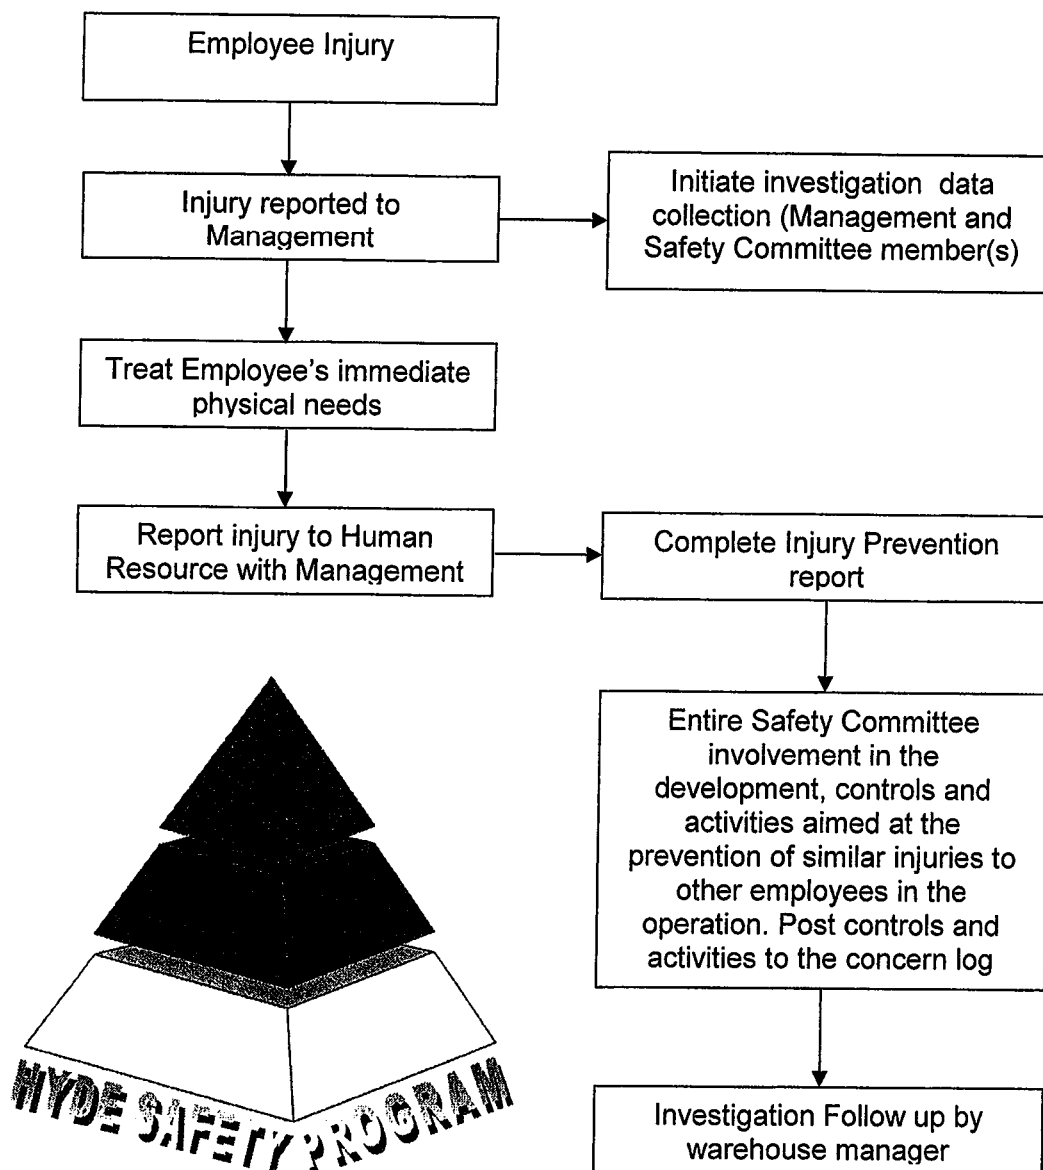

* Injuries, auto accidents and hours must be for the same time period. All management hours, injuries and auto accidents are included with the non-management when calculating frequencies.

2.2.3 Injury Investigation Process

The objective of an injury investigation is to prevent the recurrence of a similar injury. This is done by analyzing and identifying the key factors that caused the injury and implementing controls to eliminate or minimize those factors, thereby preventing injuries. This activity, if completed effectively, is the single most effective activity to prevent future injuries.

- We should investigate all injuries to some degree, regardless of how minor the injuries or damage.
- The investigation should be started as soon as possible by the supervisor and a member of the employee safety committee trained in injury investigation and how to fill out the injury prevention report
- Injury investigations should be made where the injury occurred, within 15 minutes of the initial reporting. "First and foremost, when an accident occurs, ensure that all medical concerns are resolved prior to the start of the investigation"
- Those who are familiar with the facility, proper safety methods, and the work process can do the initial investigation.
- Cover every aspect of the injured employee's actions at the time of the injury. If possible, actively involve the injured employee in each step of the investigation. Be sure to talk with others in the area about the incident.
 - Ask for open ended questions
 - Avoid the appearance of attempting to place blame
 - Be specific, "Injury Prevention Report (IPR) must contain factual statements. Any information that is speculative or supposition should be identified as such"
 - Look for all possible clues
 - Get all sides of the incident
- Complete the IPR
 - Fill in all of the information required. Be as specific as possible.
 - Explain in detail what the person was doing when they were injured.
 - Use additional pages for anything that would add clarity or meaning to the report.
- Analyze the Equipment/environment (Machinery, tools, temperature, physical conditions, weather, etc.) Analyze the employee behavior (training, proper methods placement, etc.) Analyze the work process (job set-up, staffing, etc.) On the IPR, make notations in the appropriate box for these three components. Avoid phrases such as "not paying attention" or "failure to follow safe work methods"
- Ask witnesses or the injured person how the injury might have been prevented.
- After the initial investigation and IPR have been completed, the warehouse manager and the safety committee assume responsibility of the report for corrective/prevention activities suggested by the safety committee member completing the report. Unless some corrective action is taken as a result of the investigation, the investigation is a waste of time.
- Once corrective action has been determined and posted to the concerns log along with completion dates and person responsible, the plan should be shared with the injured employee and the safety committee.
- The IPR should be maintained in the Safety Program Binder.

2.2.4 Injury Investigation Flowchart

3. Safety Education and Training

Educating the workforce in an ongoing manner will enable the workforce to remain aware of their surroundings and learn safer ways to operate on a daily basis. By educating and training the workforce, the Hyde Safety Program will promote the following premises;

HYDE SHIPPING CORPORATION

BUSINESS ACTIVITY PROFILE AND UPDATE - 2025

Hyde Shipping Corporation, located at 1801 SE 28 St, Berth 16 within Port Everglades, continues to strengthen its presence through steady growth and strategic investment in its core operations. Our primary activities include stevedore operations, now focused exclusively on Hyde vessels, along with terminal receiving management, vessel management, off-port warehouse operations, and local drayage trucking services.

Cargo volumes have grown significantly, increasing from a weekly average of 583 TEU in 2020 to 725 TEU today—a 25% rise in just five years. This growth reflects the expansion of our book of business, supported by vessel sharing agreements that have successfully attracted cargo previously moving through the Port of Miami. We currently manage four vessel calls per week at Port Everglades, each on a separate day, using a rotation of five vessels within our managed fleet to ensure consistent, reliable operations that align with the port's throughput objectives.

While we no longer provide stevedoring services to outside sea carriers, the growth in our internal cargo volumes has more than offset the reduction in third-party services, surpassing previous activity levels. Over the past three years, we have set new volume records each year, and our primary challenge now is managing the space needed to support our continued growth within the port.

To accommodate this growth, our crane hour usage has increased from 30 hours per week to 34 hours per week on average, and our equipment inventory has expanded from 1600 units in 2020 to 1,950 units in 2025, reflecting our commitment to operational readiness. We have also made targeted capital investments to support this growth, including the acquisition of a Kalmar 70,000-pound forklift in March 2021, a Kalmar 90,000-pound top pick in November 2022, and upgrades to our terminal office space to enhance efficiency and employee safety.

Hyde Shipping Corporation maintains a strong record of governmental cooperation and compliance. We remain in good standing with CBP under the C-TPAT program, and we actively cooperate with the FBI, providing vessels for select training operations, which contributes positively to port and regional security. We continue to comply with all port, customs, and security protocols in support of the safe and efficient functioning of Port Everglades.

Looking ahead, as our core business activities continue to increase, we remain committed to operational improvement and collaboration with Port Everglades to optimize berth and yard space usage. We will continue to invest in equipment and facility upgrades to match our growing volumes and operational demands, and we look forward to maintaining and enhancing our partnership with Port Everglades to support the port's broader objectives.

Hyde Shipping Corporation remains dedicated to supporting Port Everglades through sustainable, secure, and efficient operations, aligned with the port's goals for continued growth and service excellence.
